WEATHER KEY POINTS

04/19/19 - 04/25/19

Friday

- Scattered thunderstorms late this afternoon into tonight across northern-most portions of the Inland region, with small hail and gusts to 45 mph possible.
- Warmer than normal conditions for mid-April (around 10-15 degrees above normal) causing low risk for those extremely sensitive to heat, especially those without effective cooling and/or adequate hydration again today.
- The warm conditions over the past few days have continued melting of snowpack and will continue to lead to rises in rivers and streams into the weekend. No flooding impacts expected at this time.

Friday Night – Sunday

- A few showers and possible thunderstorms across northern CA after midnight Friday night into Saturday, but no significant impacts are expected.
- Cooler conditions with most locations near normal Saturday
- Gusty west winds expected for southern CA mountains and deserts, strongest Saturday afternoon and evening.
- Dry and warmer than normal conditions redevelop Sunday.

Monday-Thursday

- Dry conditions with another warming trend again early next week
